There are five (5) differences between the two cartoons.
